

Mastery of Transformational Coaching

Powerful Experiential Workshop

8-9th February 2012

Using a groundbreaking body of work to develop mastery in coaching at the Transformational level.

Coaching transformationally is about being fully connected to all of who you are, and then connecting with your client's full potential and bringing this into reality. It is about our 'being qualities', not just about mastering technical expertise.

- You will learn experientially how to use transformational Quantum energy to coach and lead individuals and groups and bring about breakthroughs.

- You will take away a series of exercises, which can be integrated with your existing coaching practice and used on an on-going basis to improve your presence and maximise your impact.

The global crisis presents coaches with an opportunity to make a difference on a large scale as we are seeing a new breed of visionary leader emerging. In order to support these leaders on their transformational journeys we as coaches are required to be familiar with transformation ourselves and to develop our coaching to a transformational level.

In this experiential workshop you will be using Quantum Intelligence (QQ) to access your knowing, passion and vision and to enable you to be fully present, in flow and aware, and to be so at will. These elements are the key to taking your coaching to this transformational level and for you to get the maximum enjoyment out of your work.

Who Should Attend?

Practising coaches, mentors, consultants and leaders or any individual who would like to expand and deepen their abilities to work transformatively.

People who have previously attended our sessions and want to build on or consolidate their learning.

This is an intensive workshop, we only offer 10 places so that we ensure each participant maximizes their experience, early registration is recommended.

Participants Have Said:

“A challenging, positive and moving experience that shifted me and my practice – I was genuinely inspired.”

“A new powerful perspective allied with practical methods of application. Created a sense of making a big difference – a deliciously new way to coach.”

“A truly insightful workshop packed with relevant real stuff that doesn’t get talked about on other seminars – everything you need to know in coaching and life about energy.”

“My objectives were 100% met, OMG moments for me and my clients are now possible- the belief and skill are there.”

“Biggest breakthrough – existing potential and ability to release and elevate my leadership potential.”

“The facilitators had great breadth and depth of knowledge – true practitioners.”

“Sue and Penny were inspirational, supportive, totally authentic and courageous.”

Programme Structure:

9.30am – 5.00pm each day

On Day 1 of this powerful and fun, experiential workshop we will explore:

- What it means to coach transformatively
- How to be fully present and in a state of flow (preparing yourself to work with Quantum Intelligence)
- How to connect energetically with your client and prepare a transformative coaching space
- Access your Knowing and Intuition

- Listen and speak transformatively
- Integrate this into your current practice

On Day 2 we'll take it to the next level and look at:

- Accessing passion, potential and vision for you and your clients
- Moving from problem to potential
- Creating amazing breakthroughs with clients
- How to integrate this approach into your coaching practice
